SNOW, RAIN IN STATE GENERAL REPORTS SHOW

Heavy Precipitation to Relieve Anxiety Over the State of Planted Crops

SNOW THROUGH WEST

Storms Reported to Have Done Some Damage in Northeastern No. Dak.

HEAVY HAILSTORM
Jamestown, N. D., April 16.—Snow from the east yesterday afternoon turned to rain and hail, and then to a heavy hail storm, with hail stones as large as one inch in diameter falling covering the ground to a depth of an inch and a half. Rain continued all night and turned to snow this morning and was still continuing at noon. The hospital reported precipitation for the last 24 hours as 1.09 inches.

General precipitation throughout North Dakota, recorded in weather bureau reports for the 24-hour period ending at 7 a. m. today will relieve anxiety felt in some quarters of the state over the lack of moisture for germination of spring crops. With Bismarck, Bottineau, Jamestown, Langdon and Napoleon reporting snow, several other cities reported rain, and precipitation is reported for 17 weather bureau stations in North Dakota.

A driving snow which began in Bismarck before daylight continued during the morning, but it was indicated that fair weather tonight and rising temperature Thursday would soon take the snow away.

Heaviest At Devils Lake
The heaviest precipitation during the 24-hour period reported was at Devils Lake—1.68 inches. Jamestown reported 1.09 inches, Langdon .55 and Moorhead-Fargo four-fifths of an inch of rain. The precipitation reported to the weather bureau follows:

Amenia	.22	Clo
Bismarck	.13	Sno
Bottineau	.08	Sno
Cottleville	.14	Clo
Devils Lake	1.68	Clo
Dickinson	.04	Clo
Ellendale	.38	Rai
Essenden	.46	Clo
Grand Forks	.81	Rai
Jamestown	1.09	Rai
Langdon	1.35	Sno
Armstrong	1.24	Clo
Lisbon	.50	Clo
Lincoln	.10	Clo
Maplewood	.15	Sno
Williston	.20	Clo
Moorhead	.80	Rai

Clo, cloudy; Sno, snow; Rai, rain. Modern drops in temperature accompanied the snowfall in many parts. Bottineau and Bowbells reported the lowest temperatures last night—28 above, while Bismarck reported 30 above and Dickinson and several other cities. The highest temperature in the state yesterday was at Ellendale, where it was 7.

The weather bureau's report shows that a low pressure area over Colorado yesterday morning moved eastward and covered the entire Mississippi Valley, precipitation occurring in that valley, the Plains States and Rocky Mountain region.

Same Damage Done
High winds and considerable precipitation occurred in parts of North Dakota, particularly in northeastern North Dakota, according to reports, some damage being reported there on account of the storms.

The North Dakota corn and wheat region summary of the weather bureau, issued today, says: "Unfavorable weather for spring work prevailed in the north and west portions of the state, delaying spring plowing and seeding and growth of grasses. Considerable seeding and some plowing was accomplished in the south and east portions. Livestock is in good condition."

The damage in the northeastern part of the state, reports said, was confined chiefly to telephone lines, the Langdon weather bureau reporting lines down as a result of the storm, which was a combination sleet and snowstorm which turned into rain. At 11 a. m. today an inch and a half of snow had fallen in Bismarck, the total precipitation being about a quarter of an inch.

TO BENEFIT CROP
Minot, N. D., April 16.—That last night's fall of moisture will be a big asset to crops in this section of the state was the declaration of the county agent here. About 10 percent of the wheat crop has been seeded in Ward county, the county agent said. The present precipitation provides an abundance of moisture.

BURDICK WILL DROP CHARGES AT WILLISTON

Special Prosecutor, Here, Says That Conviction Could Not Be Secured on Them

SAYS HE IS LIMITED

Might Bind Defendants Over But Could Not Secure a Conviction, He Says

U. L. Burdick, special prosecutor in the Williston bank cases, announced this afternoon that he would not press the cases against Erick Thorberg, Ed Schulenberg, George Bates and Gilbert Semington, state bank examiners charged with receiving deposits when the bank was insolvent, at a preliminary hearing scheduled for April 21.

Mr. Burdick said statutes provide four grounds on which a bank may be declared insolvent. Investigation of decisions in criminal cases ruled out these three—when reserve isn't made good, do not pay obligations, do not obey orders of banking boards—leaving one cause, when assets at a fair value do not equal liabilities. The latter cause, he said, was a matter of opinion, and he would have to rely on local directors, who would say the assets were equal to liabilities.

"I probably could bind these defendants over, but I do not believe I could secure a conviction," said Mr. Burdick. "I might as well drop the case now as six months from now."

Accused and accused faced each other in apparently friendly conversation in the state capital yesterday afternoon.

U. L. Burdick of Fargo, named special prosecutor in the case he instituted at Williston against Gilbert Semington and others in connection with the voting trust agreement made during times of stringency in the Williams County State Bank, called on Mr. Semington this afternoon.

His call, however, was strictly business—he wanted to see some bank department records he might use in the case against Semington. The latter got the records for Burdick.

"RADIO KNIFE" MAKES OPERATIONS VIRTUALLY BLOODLESS, SURGEON SAYS

Chicago, April 16.—A "radio knife" which may cause a small revolution in the treatment of certain diseases and may make virtually bloodless operations for cancerous growths, has been demonstrated here by Dr. Louis Schmidt, who performed two operations with it yesterday.

A low-power transmitting set is used to generate the current used by the device, according to W. H. Dodde of the laboratory which perfected it. The "knife" resembling a knitting needle forms one terminal. A sheet of tin-foil on which the patient lies forms the other terminal.

EGAN IS HIGH IN SIOUX FALLS

Sioux Falls, S. D., April 16.—George W. Egan, former attorney and publisher and Thomas McKinnon, contractor, were high in today's three cornered mayoralty election. Egan received 5,582 votes and McKinnon 3,561. George W. Burnside, mayor of Sioux Falls for 20 years and the third candidate, received 2,406 votes. As neither of the two high men received a majority of the votes cast, a second election will be held next Tuesday to decide the victor. The vote was the heaviest in the city's history.

U. S. SENATE REJECTSKNIGHT

Will Not Accept Him As Oil Prosecutor

Washington, April 16.—After weeks of debate, the senate finally rejected the nomination of Samuel Knight of San Francisco, to be special government counsel in litigation looking to the recovery of sections 16 and 36 within the confines of California naval reserve Number 2.

Action was in executive session, but it was reported that the vote was 39 to 26 to uphold the adverse recommendation made on the nomination by the oil committee which disclosed the circumstances that caused congress to direct President Coolidge to employ special counsel to prosecute suits for recovery of the California oil land which had been ceded to that state as non-mineral school lands.

Senator Walsh of Montana, committee prosecutor, led the fight against Mr. Knight on the ground that he had acted as counsel for the Equitable Trust company in which the Rockefeller family are large stockholders. Section 36 is operated by the Standard Oil company of California.

PIONEER FORKS BANKER DIES

Grand Forks, April 16.—John Birkholz, 69, pioneer banker of Grand Forks who for the last 21 years has been a resident of Minneapolis and Los Angeles, died at the latter place early yesterday, according to telegrams received here.

Mr. Birkholz was president of the Birkholz Investment Banking firm of Grand Forks and the Farmers Bank of Emerado at the time of death. Between 1891 and 1902 he founded banks at Ardooch, Emerado, Thompson and Conway, N. D., and the Kittson County Bank at Hallick, Minn.

GRAFTCHARGES CARRIED UP TO H. DAUGHERTY

Gaston Means, Former Agent, Declares Daugherty Refused to Return Money

NAMES A. M. PALMER

Witness Asserts That Daugherty Planned to "Black-mail" His Predecessor

Washington, April 16.—(By the A. P.)—New charges of crookedness in the Department of Justice, this time reaching up to Harry M. Daugherty himself, were brought before the Daugherty investigating committee today by Gaston Means, former department agent and man of many connections.

He testified that Jess W. Smith on the night before he committed suicide "asked me to return $200,000 to a New York whisky ring."

"Did Smith tell you he had made a proposition to the Attorney-General and the Attorney-General would not return it?" asked Senator Wheeler. "He did," replied the witness.

Means also declared Smith had told him the Daugherty knew he could indict A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney-General under the Wilson administration, but decided not to because he wanted to "black mail" him into using his influence in Congress.

He described a meeting between Daugherty and Palmer from which he said the latter emerged "seared to death" at the proposition Daugherty had put up to him.

Switching to the indictment of Senator Wheeler in Montana the witness asserted he had information not hitherto disclosed regarding the activities of the Department of Justice in the case. The men sent from Washington who really did the work of collecting evidence, he said, had worked under cover and their identity had not been revealed.

Washington, April 16.—George W. Stork, Department of Justice accountant, resuming his testimony today before the Daugherty investigating committee, declared that since he had been a witness before the committee his brief case containing his papers had been "cut open" in his hotel room and his locked cabinet at the Department of Justice had been "jimmied."

None of his papers had been "abstracted" from the brief case, the witness said, adding that another Department of Justice agent had been similarly visited "last Sunday."

Stork testified that Martin E. Kern, purchaser of the Bosch Magneto property from the alien property custodian, had paid Joseph F. Guffey, a Democratic leader in Pennsylvania and former director of sales of the alien property custodian, the sum of $10,000 "to influence the release of liquor."

The witness produced a letter from Kern's attorney in Allentown, Pennsylvania, referring to a $10,000 payment in 1920 as a "loan" which was not returned by Guffey. The correspondent did not indicate that Kern ever obtained the whisky release permits he sought.

COOLIDGE IS DEFENDED
Senator Lodge Declares His Letter Was Proper

Washington, April 16.—Replying to critics of President Coolidge for his letter of protest against the trend of Senate investigations, Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, Republican floor leader, declared today that the chief executive had acted entirely within his rights.

"This message," said Senator Lodge, "relates directly to the conduct of public business with which the president is charged as chief executive."

ATTITUDE OF PRESIDENT ON JAPS AWAITED

Senate Makes Its Rejection of Hanihara Protest Doubly Emphatic

EXCLUSION IS VOTED

Senate and House Both Now Have Voted to Refuse Admission to Japanese

Washington, April 16.—By a vote of 71 to 4 the Senate today reaffirmed its approval of the Japanese exclusion provision in the immigration bill. The action was taken merely as a formality. Yesterday's Senate action was without a record vote and some Senators desired to have their position formally reported by a roll-call.

Those voting against the exclusion provision were Senators from Rhode Island, Sterling C. McKelvey, Democrat of Connecticut and Warren of Wyoming, all Republicans.

Washington, April 16.—(By the A. P.)—The Senate, having made doubly clear its emphatic rejection of Ambassador Hanihara's protest against exclusion of Japanese from the list of immigrants admissible to the United States, interest in this phase of the immigration question turned today to the attitude of President Coolidge and the reaction of the Tokio government.

EXCLUSION WRITTEN IN

Washington, April 16.—Japanese exclusion was written into the immigration bill yesterday by the senate over the protest of both Secretary Hughes and the Japanese ambassador.

There was neither a roll call nor debate on the exclusion amendment, action on which came unexpectedly late in the day. Only a few more than a score of senators were present.

Adoption of the amendment, which is almost identical with that approved last week by the house, was nothing more than a formality as senate approval was made certain with the refusal of that body to sanction by a majority of the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan on the immigration question.

There has been no indication from the White House as to President Coolidge's attitude with regard to the exclusion question, but there were intimations in some administrative quarters today that he might veto the immigration bill because of the Japanese provision.

Congressional leaders appear confident, however, that the executive will attach his signature to the measure. Should he veto it they have little doubt that the necessary two thirds majority for its re-passage could be obtained in both the house and senate.

To Go to Conference
It may be two weeks or more before the president is called on to act.

After the bill is passed by the senate, probably this week, it will have to go to conference for the ironing out of differences between the two houses on a number of provisions.

The chief executive already has given the subject considerable study, however, having discussed it several times with Secretary Hughes and again yesterday with Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader and chairman of the foreign relations committee.

Senator Lodge went to the White House to inform the president officially of the sentiment of himself and his colleagues and to suggest that he consider the overwhelming votes on the question when the bill reaches him.

Cabinet in Session
Whether the subject came before the regular Tuesday cabinet meeting was not made known at the White House, officials there maintaining silence. Secretary Hughes attended the cabinet session, but left for New York.

Ambassador Hanihara plans to confer with Mr. Hughes on his return today and meantime officers at the Japanese embassy decline to make any statement either regarding the ambassador's letter or the action of congress.

Long after the senate's action, Senator Hefflin, Democrat, Alabama, read a prepared address urging that the doors be closed entirely to all immigration at least for one year.

SENATE CONFIRMS LUNDQUIST'S APPOINTMENT AS POSTMASTER HERE

Transfer May Not Be Effected For a Month. Time Being Required For Transfer—"Step-up" for Others in Service

The appointment of Oliver Lundquist as postmaster at Bismarck was confirmed in the United States Senate at Washington late yesterday, according to a telegram received at the local postoffice from the Postmaster-General's office.

The exact date of Mr. Lundquist's succession to the office is undetermined. The department at Washington will forward numerous papers necessary to be effected in the transfer of the office from Acting Postmaster H. T. Murphy to Mr. Lundquist and require that bond be executed, so that, in the opinion of Mr. Lundquist, the transfer may not take place for a month.

The newly appointed postmaster, who is now assistant, is not yet ready to announce his selection of a assistant postmaster. He said, however, that the vacancy created by his elevation to the postmaster would mean a "step-up" for others in the service.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION ADVOCATES WIN

Fargo, April 16.—Mrs. Laura R. Spaulding, H. T. Alsop, and H. P. Beckwith were elected to the Fargo board of education for three-year terms at the school board election held yesterday. Mr. Alsop succeeds himself as a member of the board, and Mrs. Spaulding and Mr. Beckwith succeed Mrs. R. M. Pollock and J. W. McHose, both of whom were candidates for reelection.

The three successful candidates were elected on a platform favoring economy in the Fargo public schools. Mr. Beckwith endorsed work day religious education in the public schools.

WOOD AGAIN 'DESERTION' OF PHILIPPINES

Governor-General Says U. S. Would be Giving Up Trust at This Time

CAN'T GOVERN SELVES

Washington, April 16.—Immediate independence of the Philippine islands, sought by special commissions to the United States, would be a "serious blow to western civilization" and a "heartless betrayal of our trust," Governor General Leonard Wood said in a report made public by Secretary Weeks.

"I sympathize deeply with the desire of the Filipino people for independence," General Wood said, "but know they are not yet prepared to assume its responsibility, either from the standpoint of instructed public opinion, preparedness for defense, a common language or economic resources. I am convinced that the president's letter to Speaker Rogers voices the true interests of the Filipino, humane policy which should be followed."

There has been no indication from the White House as to President Coolidge's attitude with regard to the exclusion question, but there were intimations in some administrative quarters today that he might veto the immigration bill because of the Japanese provision.

Congressional leaders appear confident, however, that the executive will attach his signature to the measure. Should he veto it they have little doubt that the necessary two thirds majority for its re-passage could be obtained in both the house and senate.

Would Betray Trust
To grant immediate independence would be a heartless betrayal of our trust and result in turning over the 12,000,000 people of these islands to strife and disorder in the near future, for it would result in almost immediate serious clashes between the Moros and Christian Filipinos, the former being a unit against independence and desiring the continuance of American sovereignty.

It would defeat true independence both economic and political, ruin the sugar and tobacco industries, destroy confidence in investments with resulting wrecking of the finances of the islands with attendant idleness and disorders. It would be a serious blow to western civilization and to the christian effort in the far east, for it would mean the surrender of our work here.

"I am convinced the true situation in the Philippines is not understood either by congress or the American people who have been misled by propaganda."

FORBES AGAIN INDICTED FOR SALE OF GOODS

Former Head of Veterans Bureau Charged by Maryland Grand Jury Today

BIG FRAUD CHARGED

Alleges to Have Disposed of $3,000,000 Worth of Goods For $600,000 to Firm

Baltimore, Md., April 16.—Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans Bureau, was indicted by the federal grand jury here today at the close of an investigation into the sale of army supplies alleged to be worth $3,000,000 to the Thompson-Kelly Company of New York and Boston for a price said to be $600,000.

Nathan Thompson, head of the company which bought the supplies and Commander R. O'Leary of the United States Navy, who was chief of the supply division of the Veterans Bureau at Perryville, Maryland, at the time the goods were sold, also were indicted. The indictment alleges the supplies were Colonel Forbes signature.

The charge against Forbes is conspiracy to defraud the government.

FRIEND OF LINCOLN DIES

Devils Lake Man Knew Him in Illinois

Devils Lake, April 16.—George Wheeler, 87, who was an intimate acquaintance of Abraham Lincoln while the latter was practicing law in Springfield, Illinois, died Monday in a local hospital.

Mr. Wheeler, who came to Devils Lake in 1882 and had lived in this vicinity ever since, delighted telling about the time when Lincoln was then gaining prominence as an attorney. Lincoln's home was a short distance from that of Wheeler's in the Illinois city.

Mr. Wheeler was born in Dever Plains, N. Y., May 5, 1837, and came here from Springfield in 1882 with L. R. Dana, who owned the farm now owned by T. J. Shelver, known as Dana's grove.

In the years 1882-3-4, Mr. Wheeler drove a freight team between Devils Lake and Bottineau, and later filed on a homestead in South Minnaukan township, where he lived until his wife died in 1912. Since that time he had been living with his son-in-law, J. O. Perkins, in the same township. His only surviving relative in his daughter, Mrs. Perkins. The funeral was held today.

FORMER JURORS ASSERT THAW IS NOW SANE

Philadelphia, April 16.—Six special jurors, who in 1917 declared Harry K. Thaw, a lunatic, testified he is sane and entitled to freedom, at a jury trial in common pleas court to determine Thaw's mental status.

The second day of the trial proved replete with surprises. In addition to the revised opinion of Thaw by the former jurors, Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit, his divorced wife, came face to face in the court room in a tense duel of glances; the name of Stanley White, whom Thaw shot and killed in 1906, was suddenly mentioned, causing Thaw to manifest emotion; and Dr. Charles K. Mills, noted alienist, under grilling cross examination by counsel for the trustees of the Thaw estate, admitted that Thaw was suffering from aphasia, although maintaining his opinion that he is sane and competent to manage his own affairs.

LOAN OF CASH FOR CATTLE IS MADE DEFINITE

Agricultural Credit Corporation Makes Plans For Advancing Money

CONFERENCE IS CALLED

Meeting of County Agents in Fargo to Be Held—Will Buy 10,000 Cattle

Minneapolis, April 16.—(By the A. P.)—Farmers, selected in one-stop sections of Northwest states, with whom to make demonstrations, are to be loaned money direct by the new $10,000,000 Agricultural Credit Corporation, which has voted a one million dollar fund with which to test the capacity of the corporation to enable farmers to swing from one single crop farming to diversification.

M. O. Grangard, corporation vice-president, who has been named head of the farm diversification division, today completed plans for the beginning of the division's operations.

Ten thousand head of cattle will be on farms scattered through Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana by July 1, all supplied by the corporation. Mr. Grangard said.

"County agents from 35 North Dakota counties have been called to meet at Fargo Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. when their part in the new problem will be outlined."

To Select Expert
"An agricultural expert will be selected to aid the county agents. In each county where experiments are to be made county committees will be organized, consisting of county agents, a farmer and a business man. The county agent who is in close touch with the farmers 'on the ground' will make selection of farms on which to place the mortgaged cattle."

The farmers selected will be able to show their ability and capacity for handling of dairy or beef cattle and their merits for a credit standpoint. The county committee first will receive the suggestions of loan applicants and when they are approved the list will be returned to the county agent.

The county agent will submit the list to the corporation for approval and, if approved, the money will be forthcoming.

PROSECUTION GOES AHEAD

Attorney-General to Make no Exception in Wheeler Case

Washington, April 16.—The department of justice can see no reason for delay in proceeding with the case in which Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, has been indicted by a federal grand jury at Great Falls, Mont., and his arrest on the indictment is expected by officials within the next few days.

It was said yesterday at the department of justice that Attorney General Stone expected to treat the case as any other indictment and arrest and it should occur Mr. Stone would make inquiries to ascertain the reasons.

Previously it had been stated at the White House that President Coolidge was leaving the entire question to Attorney General Stone.

Fit the Paper to the Importance of the Message

This rule should govern in the solution of your printing problems. But too often a letter that travels half the space of the nation, carrying a trade offer of immense importance is printed upon no better paper than the usual routine circular.

Buy your paper as wisely as you buy your printing—see that it blends in with the importance of the message you desire to convey.

The Bismarck Tribune Printing Company can give you this Paper Service—its samples and color schemes are at your disposal without extra charge.

Printing that sells—that holds old business and attracts new volume is likely to be good printing. Printing that utilizes half tones to convey the picture of the idea should always be good printing.

INCREASE IN DAIRY COWS IN N. D. IS MARKED

J. G. Diamond, Federal Statistician For North Dakota, Gives Tabulations

MCINTOSH IS IN LEAD

Parro, N. D., April 16.—That the dairy industry is increasing rapidly in North Dakota is indicated by the report of J. G. Diamond, federal statistician at Grand Forks, which has been received at the North Dakota Agricultural college, showing that the number of dairy cows has increased in every county of the state during the past four years with but two exceptions, where the number remained stationary.

Mr. Diamond has prepared a tabulation of the number of dairy cows in each county for the state on January 1 for each year from 1920 to 1924 inclusive. This information is ordinarily available only from the federal census every ten years, the last being taken in 1920.

The total number of dairy cows in the state on Jan. 1, 1924, was 533,000, compared with 481,000 on Jan. 1, 1920, an increase of 72,000 or 15.6 percent. The average number of dairy cows in the state per farm was approximately six in 1920 and about seven at the present time.

Ramsay and Steele counties showed the greatest proportional increase in number of dairy cows for the four-year period, 35 percent. The two counties where the numbers remained stationary were Oliver and Billings. Richland county leads the state in number of dairy cows with a total of 18,700 and Cass and Stutsman are tied for second place with 18,100. In 1920 Stutsman county was in the lead.

McIntosh leads in the average number of cows per farm, 12, and Logan is second with 10. Divide and Burke counties both have less than an average of four cows per farm. The number of dairy cows by counties for 1924 and percentage of increase over 1920 follows:

Ingrown Toe Nail Turns Out Itself

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

THE SAME PLACE, BUT WHAT A DIFFERENCE!

People are not so stylish today as they were 12 years ago. If you don't believe it, study these two pictures. They both show Easter Sunday parades on Fifth Avenue, New York. Both were taken in the same spot, but the top one dates back in 1910 and the other to 1922.

The horses and carriages that traversed the avenue in 1910 have been replaced by the automobile, but what has become of the high silk hat?

In the old days, nearly every man wore a silk topper of a derby, but on the lower picture there isn't a two-quart hat in sight.

The women, too, wore brighter clothes in 1910—and more flowers. The people were in less of a hurry and had more time to stop and talk.

The two magnified sections show the contrast even more strongly. You'll notice one chap in the 1922 parade who doesn't believe in dressing up at all—even on Easter!

CLUBWOMEN OF DISTRICT WILL GATHER SOON

Seventh District Federated Clubs to Convene in Mandan April 30-May 1

INTERESTING PROGRAM

The clubs comprising the Seventh District of the Women's Federated Clubs of the state will be held in Mandan Wednesday, and Thursday, April 30 and May 1. A program quite complete with a number of interesting speakers, features and unusual entertainments is planned for the entertainment of the club women which will attend this meeting as delegates from towns of the entire Seventh district.

The program committee has not completed the entire program, but the tentative arrangements call for entertainment that will keep the guests busy from noon of Wednesday until midnight of Thursday. About 200 are expected to attend these meetings coming from the various parts of the district and a large number from this city as well as other clubs of the Eighth District will attend most of the sessions which will be held in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church of Mandan.

President III
Mrs. Bernard Nickerson, as president of the Seventh District, may not be able to preside at any of the sessions, since she is at present, in a hospital in the Twin Cities receiving treatment from a specialist. The address of welcome will be given by Mrs. Robert Wilson, who was recently elected president of the Mandan City Federation of Clubs, and who is general chairman for all preparations for the District Convention. Mrs. L. N. Gary, state president will deliver an address on the afternoon of the 30th.

Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural College, will speak on the future of North Dakota. W. F. McClelland, superintendent of the North Dakota Training School will give what will no doubt prove one of the most interesting talks of the entire session. His talk will outline in detail the problems of the state institution and its officers. Mr. McClelland is expected to outline numerous ways in which the individual clubs in every part of the state may help to correct the wayward boy and girl and thereby help reduce the number of delinquent boys and girls, with which the juvenile courts must deal, and most of whom are found to be eligible to the State Training School where they must receive special training.

To Visit State School
Following this the delegates will be guests at a sight-seeing trip about Mandan and will stop at the State Training School where they will be shown through the institution, and an entertainment will be staged by the boys and girls of the Industrial School.

The annual musicale will be given on Wednesday evening. The program for this is in the hands of a special committee and those appearing on this will be the best of Mandan talent and that from the entire district. Thursday morning's session will be given over entirely to business. Election of officers will be held and reports from the various clubs in the District will be read.

New Feature
A new feature to be introduced at this meeting will be the conducting of a club institute on Thursday afternoon. This will be in charge of Mrs. Robert Wilson and she will give a demonstration of a model club meeting and show how best results may be obtained from the same. Miss Hazel Nielson will give a

The four-legged hero of the South today is, strangely enough, named "Trouble." The swine had chewed an ear from the Alexander child and were menacing the little girl when the dog hero arrived and drove them off.

GRAIN TICKET HOLDERS HAVE OPTION RIGHT

May Order Grain Redelivered at Point Received, or Terminal Warehouse

Much latitude is given the holder of storage grain tickets in the disposition of the grain, according to an opinion on the law governing this, given by John Thorpe, First Assistant Attorney-General, to John N. Hagan, state supervisor of grains and grain grades. Mr. Hagan asked the question whether or not it is optional with the holder of a storage receipt from a grain warehouse as to whether or not grain shall be redelivered at the same place where it was received, or at a terminal point.

"After a careful study of the foregoing (the law on the subject) it is the opinion of this office that the holder of a storage receipt from a grain warehouse has the option of demanding grain stored by him there, or to be delivered back to him at the place where it is received, or at a terminal point," the opinion reads.

PIONEER WHO FOUGHT WITH SIBLEY DIES

Leeds, N. D., April 16.—Capt. M. L. Strong, 84, veteran of civil and Indian wars, and resident of Leeds for the last 24 years, died here.

When he was 12 years old he and his father drove across country from Michigan to Minnesota with 100 head of horses which they sold to the Indians camped near the present site of Faribault, Minn. In 1854 his father homesteaded in Steele county, Minnesota. In 1862, Mr. Strong enlisted in Co. A, Tenth Minnesota Volunteers. He was elected second lieutenant by the company. At that time there was an outbreak of Sioux Indians near Mankato and his company was sent to Garden City to guard settlers during the winter. They had to build their own barracks, cutting the timber and sawing it in a sawmill.

In the spring of 1863, his company with others under the command of General H. H. Sibley, started west into the Dakotas after the Sioux Indians and defeated them in an engagement at Buffalo Lake near the present site of Bismarck. He was next ordered south and while serving as an aid on General McArthur's staff he lost the sight of his right eye while carrying dispatches.

He married Miss Lovine A. Melvin of Owatonna, Minn., in 1866. She died in 1919.

Captain Strong was active in the work of the Benson County Fair association, in commercial club work and in lodge circles. He was a Mason.

In 1921 Captain Strong wrote a brief history of his life, and as death approached requested that it be read at his funeral. The body was sent to Owatonna, Minn., for burial.

Two daughters, Miss Carrie Strong and Mrs. William Orr of Leeds survive.

Williston People Oppose Recommendation of Government

Williston, N. D., April 16.—With William S. Arthur, manager of the Williston federal reclamation project, absent from the city scouting for beet workers to help in the most important cropping effort this project has yet undertaken, farmers and businessmen here were stunned at receipt of the news Saturday that the special committee on reclamation at Washington had recommended to Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, that the Williston project be abandoned.

Officials of the Williston commercial club, who have helped bring about the pronounced revival of interest in the project here this year, have wired Manager Arthur offering to co-operate with him in laying the claims of the district before the proper officials in Washington, whom they believe should view the future of the situation with optimism in the light of present developments.

The past record of the district, too, it is pointed out, should be considered without prejudice, since a final judgment on any section of the agricultural northwest that was based upon the achievements of the past few years would not do justice to such section's future possibilities. Local people hold that this is no more true of the Williston irrigation project than of northwestern farming in general, and they point out that while the national administration is concerned with methods to further finance and rehabilitate the general interests of farming it is scarcely opportune to desert a struggling and industrious body of farm workers who have made extensive outlays upon the presumption that the government would see them through with the undertakings they have attempted.

CLUB HOLDS WORKING BEE

Devils Lake, N. D., April 16.—The first working bee of the year was held on the grounds of the Devils Lake Town and Country club yesterday. About ten men turned out to help put the grounds in shape.

Everyone appeared armed with a sharp axe and a great deal of cleaning of brush resulted. Teams are being organized for the purpose of holding daily brushing bees on the grounds. An enormous amount of work remains to be done and in order to get the club in shape for use this year much volunteer work must be done. Teams of ten men each are being made up. Each team will work one morning a week, starting at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and working until dark. If the plan is carried through, three substitute labor teams will do as much work or rather work the same number of hours each week as 4 men giving their entire time throughout the week.

MARKET NEWS

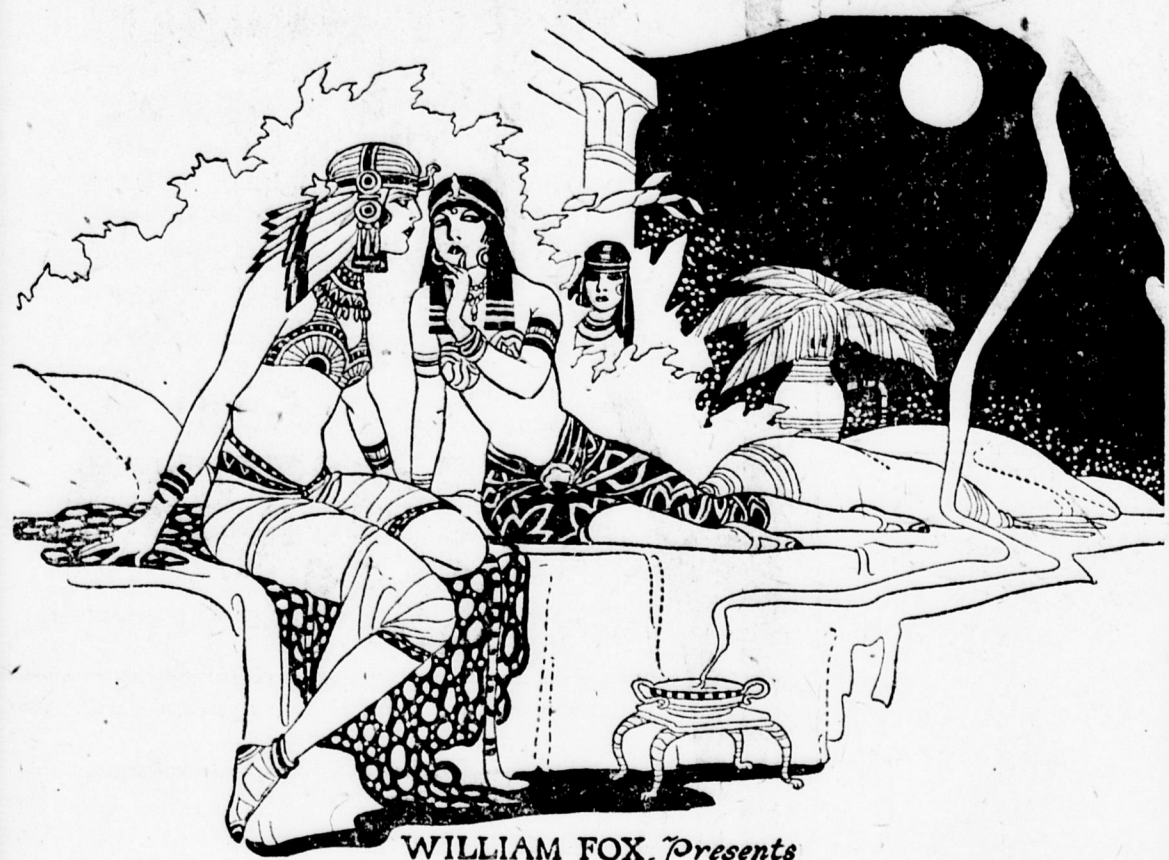

WHEAT FIRM AT OPENING

First Trading of Day Shows Some Improvement

Chicago, April 16.—Wheat became firmer in sympathy with corn in today's early dealings. After opening 1/2 to 1/4 higher, May $1.01 1/2 to 3/4 and July $1.00 1/2 to 3/4 wheat sagged a little and then scored slight additional gains.

Wheat prices bulged sharply in the later trading. A report of 50 percent damage to winter wheat in one locality in Ohio helped along the advance and so did reports that Germany had officially pronounced the Dawes plan the basis for a swift solution of the reparations problem. Wheat closed unsettled, 3/4 to 1 cent net higher. May $1.02 1/4 to 3/4 to $1.02 1/2 and July $1.04 1/4 to 3/4.

NEW BIDS ON BONDS ASKED

Bond Houses Cannot Bid on 5 Per Cent Basis, They Say

Bids will be received this afternoon by the state industrial commission for $1,000,000 rural credit bonds bearing 5 percent interest and a like amount bearing 5 1/4 percent interest. The Industrial Commission, decided on the new call for bids after no bids were received yesterday afternoon on the basis of five percent bonds alone, and since the commission had specified this rate in the request for bids, all proposals were rejected.

Bond men, it is understood, informed the commission that in view of the present bond market conditions, and the continued assault on the credit of the Northwest through wide-spread discussion in Congress and elsewhere of conditions in the Northwest, they would not take bonds on a five percent basis. It was pointed out that South Dakota recently also was unable to sell five percent rural credit bonds.

Chicago has a ready assessment valuation of $1,176,570,644.

GRAIN TICKET HOLDERS HAVE OPTION RIGHT

May Order Grain Redelivered at Point Received, or Terminal Warehouse

Much latitude is given the holder of storage grain tickets in the disposition of the grain, according to an opinion on the law governing this, given by John Thorpe, First Assistant Attorney-General, to John N. Hagan, state supervisor of grains and grain grades. Mr. Hagan asked the question whether or not it is optional with the holder of a storage receipt from a grain warehouse as to whether or not grain shall be redelivered at the same place where it was received, or at a terminal point. "After a careful study of the foregoing (the law on the subject) it is the opinion of this office that the holder of a storage receipt from a grain warehouse has the option of demanding grain stored by him there-in to be delivered back to him at the place where it is received, or at a terminal point," the opinion reads. "The grain so redelivered need not be the identical grain stored by him, but the same kind, quality and quantity."

"It is further our opinion that in case delivery is demanded at a terminal point, then the grain warehouseman has the option to deliver the kind, quality and quantity of grain stored, or in lieu thereof a receipt issued by a bonded warehouse or elevator company doing business at such terminal point for an equal amount of grain of the same grade."

PIONEER WHO FOUGHT WITH SIBLEY DIES

Leeds, N. D., April 16.—Capt. M. L. Strong, 84, veteran of Civil and Indian wars, and resident of Leeds for the last 24 years, died here. When he was 12 years old he and his father drove across country from Michigan to Minnesota with 100 head of horses which they sold to the Indians camped near the present site of Faribault, Minn. In 1854 his father homesteaded in Steele county, Minnesota. In 1862, Mr. Strong enlisted in Co. A, Tenth Minnesota volunteers. He was elected second lieutenant by the company. At that time there was an outbreak of Sioux Indians near Mankato and his company was sent to Garden City to guard settlers during the winter. They had to build their own barracks, cutting the timber and sawing it in a sawmill.

In the spring of 1863, his company with others under the command of General H. H. Sibley, started west into the Dakotas after the Sioux Indians and defeated them in an engagement at Buffalo Lake near the present site of Bismarck. He was next ordered south and while serving as an aid on General McArthur's staff he lost the sight of his right eye while carrying dispatches.

He married Miss Lovine A. Melvin of Owatonna, Minn., in 1866. She died in 1919.

Captain Strong was active in the work of the Bismarck Club and association, in commercial club work and in lodge circles. He was a Mason.

Two daughters, Miss Carrie Strong and Mrs. William Orr of Leeds survive.

Williston, N. D., April 16.—With William S. Arthur, manager of the Williston federal reclamation project, absent from the city scouting for beet workers to help in the most important cropping effort this project has yet undertaken, farmers and businessmen here were stunned at receipt of the news Saturday that the special committee on reclamation at Washington had recommended to Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, that the Williston project be abandoned.

Officials of the Williston commercial club, who have helped bring about the pronounced revival of interest in the project here this year, have wired Manager Arthur offering to co-operate with him in laying the claims of the district before the proper officials in Washington, whom they believe should view the future of the situation with optimism in the light of present developments.

The past record of the district, too, it is pointed out, should be considered without impatience, since a final judgment on any section of the agricultural northwest that was based upon the achievement of the past few years would not do justice to such section's future possibilities. Local people hold that this is no more true of the Williston irrigation project than of northwestern farming in general, and they point out that while the national administration has been concerned with further finance and rehabilitation of general interests of farming it is scarcely opportune to desert a struggling and industrious body of farm workers who have made extensive outlays upon the presumption that the government would see them through with the undertakings they have attempted.

CLUB HOLDS WORKING BEE

Devils Lake, N. D., April 16.—The first working bee of the year was held on the grounds of the Devils Lake Town and Country club yesterday and about ten men turned out to help put the grounds in shape. Everyone appeared armed with a sharp axe and a great deal of cleaning of brush resulted.

Teams are being organized for the purpose of holding daily brushing bees on the grounds. An enormous amount of work remains to be done and in order to get the club in shape for use this year much volunteer work must be done. Teams of ten men each are being made up. Each team will work one evening a week, starting at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and working until dark. If the plan is carried through, these substitute labor teams will do as much work or rather work the same number of hours each week as 4 men giving their entire time throughout the week.

NEW N. P. BRIDGE WILL BE BUILT

Fargo, April 16.—Preliminary work on construction of the new double track, full steel bridge across the Red river by the N. P. railroad was begun yesterday.

A small crew is employed on the bridge, making ready for the larger construction which will begin soon. Work is expected to be in full blast by May 1, according to E. M. Grime, civil engineer for the road on this division. The main construction work has been delayed on account of the road not being able to obtain the 70 foot piles necessary for the foundation of the bridge, he said. About 140 of

GERMANY UNAFFECTED

The anxiety which was betrayed in some quarters over the effect of the death of Hugo Stinnes, the master German industrialist, appears to have been wasted. The majority of the German spokesmen for the public regard his death as having little effect upon the nation at large, some of the newspapers even seeing Germany freed from an iron heel of a manipulator of finance which was crushing the country. The activities of Stinnes were varied. Unlike many other rich men of the world he was an active and outspoken participant in affairs of government, his voice carried weight and vitally affected the course of the Fatherland. Whether or not he was actuated by patriotic or selfish motives is now a matter of debate in Germany.

Stinnes, who is said to have increased a legacy of $250,000 to a fortune of $250,000,000, is assailed in some German quarters as the father of the inflation policy, which sent prices sky-rocketing, brought poverty and misery, demoralized the mark and threw Germany into economic chaos. During all this time he, among the very few, appears to have prospered in Germany.

Some German newspapers charge that he was among those blind leaders of Germany during the war who failed to measure the capacity of the nation to resist, and that he brought out Germany's policy of passive resistance in the Ruhr in the hope of being able to beat France in the economic struggle that ensued. Correspondents seeking to interpret the mind of the average man of the street in Germany find him little interested in Stinnes' death.

The world at large has been vitally interested in the effect of the death of Stinnes upon Germany, for it was confidently expected that he would add great weight to the force of opinion urging acceptance of the reparation experts' plan for rehabilitation of Germany. The effort may be to further impress upon the German mind at large the futility of attempting to achieve prosperity artificially, and to encourage a decision to travel the hard road of sacrifice back to a normal and contented state.

MR. LUNDQUIST'S APPOINTMENT

Appointment of Oliver Lundquist as postmaster here is in accordance with the general policy laid down by the late President Harding and reiterated by President Coolidge, of recognizing faithful and meritorious service in the postoffice. Much progress has been made in the last few years toward taking the postoffice out of politics, and the appointment here is evidence of this change. Mr. Lundquist's experience and ability in the postal service assures Bismarck of an efficiently conducted office.

FRANCE'S PROGRESS

If our doughboys could spend their vacations in France this year, they certainly wouldn't know the place. The devastated regions in the war zone have been rebuilt to an amazing extent.

The trenches that stretched from Switzerland to the North Sea have been nine-tenths filled in.

Four-fifths of the barbed wire has been coiled and removed.

Over 740,000 French dwellings and agricultural buildings were completely destroyed or severely damaged during the war. More than 600,000 have been rebuilt.

When the German invasion started, the farms in the war zone of northern France had nearly two and a half million cattle, horses, mules, donkeys, sheep, goats and pigs. The same region today has over one and one-half millions.

And more than nine-tenths of destroyed factories have been rebuilt. Railroad mileage is virtually restored to normal.

This reconstruction work has taken more than five years.

France is also making rapid strides at regaining her industrial strength as it existed before the war.

Last year she mined almost as much coal as in 1913, from mines in the northern section. This is a remarkable comeback, for systematic devastation of mines reduced her coal productive capacity by half. Some experts figured it would take 20 years to pump the water out and otherwise repair.

France in 1923 mined more iron ore, produced about as much pig iron and turned out more steel than in 1913.

Her freight traffic in 1923 was a bit larger than in 1913. Similarly, her auto exports gained a half in volume. Her general export trade jumped about 22 million metric tons in 1913 to nearly 25 millions in 1923, though imports correspondingly increased from about 44 million tons to 54 millions.

This information about France's recovery as an "economic machine" is furnished by the foreign information division of the Bankers Trust Co.

The showing is so good that it will astonish most of us. It gives the lie to the propaganda that the French people have not been buckling down to work.

But France still is in the swamp up to her neck—financially. Recovery in this direction depends chiefly on the problem of reparations and terms of settlement of France's debts to her wartime allies.

THIRTY

In the last 10 years America has bought 30 billion dollars worth of imports from other countries. In the same time, we sold 52 billion dollars worth of exports.

This left us 22 billions "to the good." Where is the money? Nearly half of it was furnished by war loans to Europe. Much gold and securities were shipped us on the balance. But billions still must be due us through commercial channels — private credit advances to our foreign trade customers.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

A TREATY OF ECONOMIC PEACE

It is a world treaty of economic peace which the Dawes and Mellon reports offer. The arbitration of arms ended with the Armistice. The arbitration of politics ended with the Treaty of Versailles. But neither was a conclusive settlement, because neither took cognizance of economics. What Germany has needed, what France has needed, what Europe has needed, what the world has needed—has been and is today a business settlement.

That is precisely what the economic experts have worked out. They have eschewed political considerations; they have dealt solely with economic considerations. Through the complexities of their findings and their recommendations shine certain simple, plain principles.

One of these is that the German people must pay as heavily in taxes as the creditor nations.

Another is that, if Germany is to pay, she must have her hands free to exploit her economic resources.

A third is that the milliards of German capital that have taken flight to other countries, must be induced to return to Germany and bear their part in achieving financial rehabilitation.

The Dawes Committee proposes to erect the new German system of payment on a firm tripod, whose three legs will be: First, taxes adjusted to the utmost capacity to pay with safety; second, the German state railway system; third, debentures based on German industries.

The scheme by which Germany is to draw from these three sources enough revenues to balance her own budget and to pay reparations on an increasing scale until a normal maximum is reached, has apparently been worked out with businesslike care.

The German railroads, it is found, are in first-class condition, and the property is unencumbered. Thus it is perfectly practicable to draw from them by means of a capitalization distributed among bonds, preferred and common stock.

Germany's industries in like manner present ample security and opportunity for revenue-raising. Thanks to the depreciation of the mark, they have freed themselves from practically all obligations. The complete depreciation of their securities has amounted to confiscation in their favor as against the holders. Accordingly they are now able to bear a burden of debentures almost as large as the debts from which they escaped.

The rejection of both Germany and France to the proposed settlement will determine its fate. Germany can scarcely refuse her consent, since to do so would mean her sinking into economic ruin beyond hope of rescue.

France must give up her economic stranglehold on the Ruhr, though she may keep her military hold for security's sake. She must give Germany full freedom to work out the plan of reparation payment and budget balancing. This will require some political backing and filling, some maneuvering to satisfy French public opinion. But the supreme fact that must in the end constrain France to acquiescence is that this and only this can save her from economic ruin.

America's interest is by no means remote. European rehabilitation is the indispensable precursor of satisfactory solution of our own economic problems. Our business genius has devised the way out for Germany, for France, for Europe. It is also our own way out.

All honor to General Dawes and his colleagues for their treaty of economic peace! — Minneapolis Journal.

ON PROHIBITION

Unless witnesses are lying before the senate committee investigating the acts of Attorney General Daugherty, responsible government employees in Washington have helped to prohibit prohibition. At this writing the testimony before the committee had not directly linked Mr. Daugherty with the whisky deals, but it had made a direct contact between the government and men known to be his friends. It also is noteworthy that, just as in the case of the fight film transportation, persons interested in prohibiting either had or thought they had influence with high officials.

Prohibition has produced a great variety of cross purposes. When some energetic, honest and courageous officials in the government have been bending every effort to stop illegal traffic in liquor, others have been deliberately aiding violation of the law. Not only in the present instance is it suspected that employees of the government connived with violators, but enforcement officers at various places have accepted hush money from the booze interests. Congress did not know when it enacted the law that enforcement would be so difficult, that the rewards for dishonesty would be so great in their possibilities, and that so many persons would deliberately undertake to block enforcement. No wonder prohibition is not prohibiting as it should. — Poster County Independent.

RECOGNIZING STATE'S PROGRESS

North Dakota's future as a dairy state is secure. There is no doubt about that though many may not be convinced of the fact.

Not so hard, though, to convince Armour Creameries, a subsidiary of the Armour Packing Company. That concern has just purchased the plants of the Northern Produce company at Bismarck and Minot. Armour Creameries has become one of the great dairy products concerns in America. That it has elected to come into North Dakota is just another proof of the growing importance of the commonwealth as a dairy center. The company will do much to carry the State through the trying period of transformation. It will bring diversified farming, with dairying as one of the uppermost features, nearer of consummation. — Fargo Tribune.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"You'll never, never guess where we are going next," said Mister Muggs, as he started his little automobile.

"Where?" cried both the Twins. "To see Tom Thumb. He lives in Once-Upon-a-Time Land, too, with his father and mother."

Well, the little car went past seven forests and over seven rivers and finally stopped at a gate in front of a farmhouse.

When they knocked at the door, Mrs. Thumb herself opened it. "Oh, dear!" she sobbed. "Isn't it dreadful! You've heard the bad news of course."

"What bad news?" asked Mister Muggs. "No, we didn't hear of any, bad news. What happened?"

"It's Tom!" cried Mrs. Thumb. "He's gone again. Once he was lost down a mouse-hole and once the cow ate him and once the wolf gobbled him up."

"But when he came home the last time we thought he was safe, and now he's been gone since yesterday morning."

"Well, then, if that's the case," said Mister Muggs, "we'll hunt for him. That's what we came for, to help anybody in trouble. For all though the stories all say, 'and they lived happily ever after,' you can never be sure. The Fairy Queen sent us."

"First they went to see the lion," said Mister Muggs. "Did you eat up Tom Thumb?" asked Mrs. Thumb.

"How big is he?" asked the lion. "As big as one of your eyes," said the fairyman.

"Ugh! I wouldn't be bothered," said the lion. And he turned over and went to sleep.

"Then they went to see the tiger," said Mister Muggs. "Did you eat up Tom Thumb?" asked Nick.

"How fat is he?" asked the tiger. "Not fat at all," said Nick. "Then I wouldn't be bothered," said the tiger, giving his tail a whack against the ground to show that he meant it.

"Then they went to see the bear," said Mister Muggs. "Did you eat up Tom Thumb?" asked Nancy.

"How sweet is he?" asked the bear. "He isn't sweet at all!" said Nancy. "Oh, get out!" growled the bear. "If I can't have honey I won't eat anything."

So they all went back to the house. "What were you doing yesterday?" asked Mister Muggs. "I made apple-butter," said Mrs. Thumb.

"Where did you put it?" "In big crocks in my cellar," declared Mister Muggs. "And when they lifted a lid, sure enough there was Tom Thumb, looking like a Brownie."

Social and Personal

Eighth District Meeting, May 13-14

Dates have been set for the 10th annual meeting of the Eighth District Meeting of the Federated Clubs to be held at Goodrich, May 13 and 14th. The program for the two days session promises to be exceedingly fall of things which will be both interesting and educational for the club women of the District. The annual banquet will be given on Tuesday evening, May 13.

Mrs. A. A. Hendricks of Goodrich is in charge of all arrangements and all clubs are asked to send her the names of their delegates as soon as possible. The Goodrich Club women are making elaborate plans for the entertainment of the delegates and club women of the District meeting during the two days session. The program for the two days session will be published later.

Last year the annual meeting was held in this city. At that time the officers made a plea to have the district meeting held at one of the smaller towns in the District.

Many Social Functions Planned

Social activities in the city have almost ceased until after Easter. Each church in the city is planning special Easter services and in a number of the churches tomorrow morning, special services will mark the observance of Passion Week. The institution of Holy Communion will be observed in the Catholic Episcopal and a number of the Lutheran churches of the city, by special services tomorrow. Good Friday will be observed by the regular services for this day in the same churches.

The Lenten season will close at noon, Saturday and a number of social functions have been planned for the weeks following immediately after Easter.

Monday evening the Catholic Daughters of America give their annual charity ball at the Grand Pacific hotel and several other large dancing parties will be given the same week and the week following. The Elks are giving a dancing party on Friday evening, April 25 and the U. C. T. Auxiliary have made plans to hold their annual May dance on May 9 at Elks' hall.

A number of parties will also be given in the season immediately following Easter, and this year promises to contain as large a social calendar as preceding.

Following the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed during which Mrs. Webb as hostess served refreshments, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. S. W. Corwin.

GUEST OF HONOR

Wilcox discussed the use of wool and Mrs. J. Yeasley had the use of Cotton as the subject of her paper.

Chicago, April 16.—The table service used by Napoleon in his last days at St. Helena is to be utilized by Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, in the entertainment of her guests at her next function.

Victorious men of earth, no more
Proclaim how wide your empires are;
Though you bind in every shore,
And your triumphs reach as far
As night or day,
Yet you, proud monarchs, must obey,
And mingle with forgotten ashes, when
Death calls ye to the crowd of common men.

Devouring Famine, Plague, and War,
Each able to undo mankind;
Death's servile emissaries are;
Nor to these alone confined,
He hath at will
More quaint and subtle ways to kill;
A smile or kiss, as he will use the art,
Shall have the cunning skill to break a heart.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO PAULA PERIER

MY DEAR MISS PERIER:

I am sure you over-rated what you generously call my kindness to you. If you enjoyed meeting me, you must also understand I enjoyed quite as much meeting one of the most popular young women in moving pictures.

We quiet home women always have much curiosity about the flaming genius which sets apart some of our sex, for the world's applause.

We are apt, my dear Miss Perier, to minimize the trials, the tribulations, the sorrows, the loneliness and poverty which I know you and every other successful artist must go through before the top rung of the ladder of fame is reached.

We perhaps envy you your success just as you envy us our homelife, our quiet domesticity and our children.

One thing I have learned, and I think that you know it as well—a woman must make her choice. She cannot have love and reverence of husband and children, and the joy and happiness of home, and also give herself to the world, through some great endeavor.

Sometimes this choice is unconscious and I think there comes a time in every woman's life, be she like you, a successful artist, or like myself, a quiet home woman, when she wishes that she could exchange her lot for that of the other.

We are very apt to think that only ourselves must fare the rugged road, but I have come to think that humanity walks over the same path, hurts its feet on the same stones, and pricks its soul with the same thorns of restlessness and discontent.

There, my dear Miss Perier, I did not mean to be the least bit philosophical. I also intended to write a friendly, courteous letter, but there seems to be some peculiar bond between us.

From your letter I could see that you liked me and I want you to know that I think you are not only a great actress, but a very understanding and sympathetic woman.

I hope, some day, you will have that home in Hollywood for which you long and hope some day there will be children's voices in it, for I saw the great longing in your eyes as you held my baby in your arms.

Some time, in the future, I hope we shall meet again. Until then will you let me sign myself,

Your sincere friend,
LESLIE PRESCOTT.

Was skeptical of Kellogg's Bran until it gave him back his health

Naturally Mr. Carter, whose letter follows—was skeptical. He had tried practically everything for the relief of constipation. All had failed. But Kellogg's Bran brought him permanent relief, just as it has done for thousands of others. Read his letter:

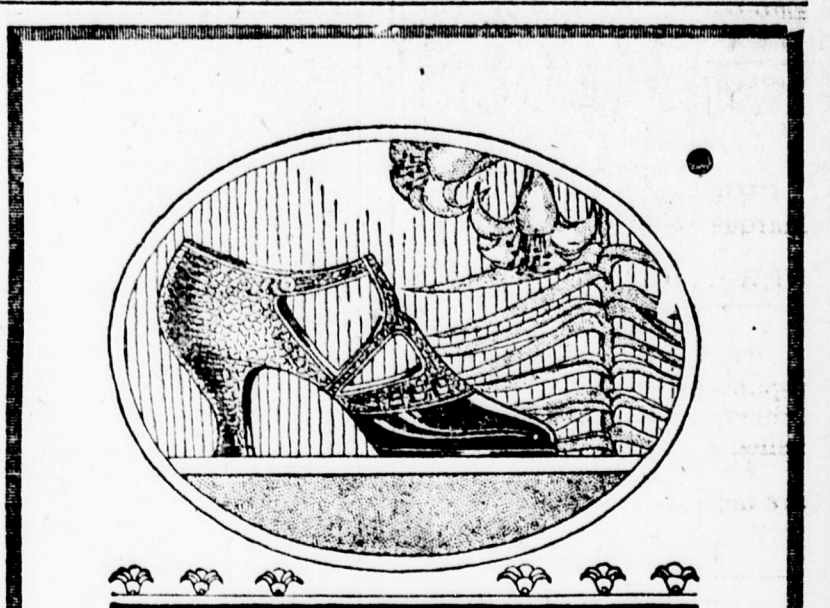

Gentlemen:

I am 43 years old, and have been for years a great sufferer from constipation. I had tried nearly every medicine I had ever seen or tried. Yours very gratefully,
L. T. Carter, 294 Nineteenth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, does not irritate the intestines like drugs and pills. It acts exactly as nature acts. Eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the exclusive, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Sold by all grocers. Made in Battle Creek.

GERMANY UNAFFECTED

The anxiety which was betrayed in some quarters over the effect of the death of Hugo Stinnes, the master German industrialist, appears to have been wasted. The majority of the German spokesmen for the public regard his death as having little effect upon the nation at large, some of the newspapers even seeing Germany freed from an iron heel of a manipulator of finance which was crushing the country. The activities of Stinnes were varied. Unlike many other rich men of the world he was an active and outspoken participant in affairs of government, his voice carried weight and vitally affected the course of the Fatherland. Whether or not he was actuated by patriotic or selfish motives is now a matter of debate in Germany.

Stinnes, who is said to have increased a legacy of $250,000 to a fortune of $250,000,000, is assailed in some German quarters as the father of the inflation policy, which sent prices sky-rocketing, brought poverty and misery, demoralized the mark and threw Germany into economic chaos. During all this time he, among the very few, appears to have prospered in Germany.

Some German newspapers charge that he was among those blind leaders of Germany during the war who failed to measure the capacity of the nation to resist, and that he brought out Germany's policy of passive resistance in the Ruhr in the hope of being able to beat France in the economic struggle that ensued. Correspondents seeking to interpret the mind of the average man of the street in Germany find him little interested in Stinnes' death.

The world at large has been vitally interested in the effect of the death of Stinnes upon Germany, for it was confidently expected that he would add great weight to the force of opinion urging acceptance of the reparations experts' plan for rehabilitation of Germany. The effort may be to further impress upon the German mind at large the futility of attempting to achieve prosperity artificially, and to encourage a decision to travel the hard road of sacrifice back to a normal and contented state.

MR. LUNDQUIST'S APPOINTMENT

Appointment of Oliver Lundquist as postmaster here is in accordance with the general policy laid down by the late President Harding and reiterated by President Coolidge, of recognizing faithful and meritorious service in the postoffice. Much progress has been made in the last few years toward taking the postoffice out of politics, and the appointment here is evidence of this change. Mr. Lundquist's experience and ability in the postal service assures Bismarck of an efficiently conducted office.

FRANCE'S PROGRESS

If our doughboys could spend their vacations in France this year, they certainly wouldn't know the place. The devastated regions in the war zone have been rebuilt to an amazing extent.

The trenches that stretched from Switzerland to the North Sea have been nine-tenths filled in.

Four-fifths of the barbed wire has been coiled and removed.

Over 740,000 French dwellings and agricultural buildings were completely destroyed or severely damaged during the war. More than 600,000 have been rebuilt.

When the German invasion started, the farms in the war zone of northern France had nearly two and a half million cattle, horses, mules, donkeys, sheep, goats and pigs. The same region today has over one and one-half millions.

And more than nine-tenths of destroyed factories have been rebuilt. Railroad mileage is virtually restored to normal.

This reconstruction work has taken more than five years.

France is also making rapid strides at regaining her industrial strength as it existed before the war.

Last year she mined almost as much coal as in 1913, from mines in the northern section. This is a remarkable comeback, for systematic devastation of mines reduced her coal productive capacity by half. Some experts figured it would take 20 years to pump the water out and otherwise repair.

France in 1923 mined more iron ore, produced about as much pig iron and turned out more steel than in 1913.

Her freight traffic in 1923 was a bit larger than in 1913. Similarly, her auto exports gained a half in volume. Her general export trade jumped about 22 million metric tons in 1913 to nearly 25 millions in 1923, though imports correspondingly increased from about 44 million tons to 54 millions.

This information about France's recovery as an "economic machine" is furnished by the foreign information division of the Bankers Trust Co.

The showing is so good that it will astonish most of us. It gives the lie to the propaganda that the French people have not been buckling down to work.

But France still is in the swamp up to her neck—financially. Recovery in this direction depends chiefly on the problem of reparations and terms of settlement of France's debts to her wartime allies.

THIRTY

In the last 10 years America has bought 30 billion dollars worth of imports from other countries. In the same time, we sold 52 billion dollars worth of exports.

This left us 22 billions "to the good." Where is the money? Nearly half of it was furnished by war loans to Europe. Much gold and securities were shipped us on the balance. But billions still must be due us through commercial channels—private credit advances to our foreign trade customers.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

A TREATY OF ECONOMIC PEACE

It is a world treaty of economic peace which the Dawes and Mellon reports offer. The arbitration of arms ended with the Armistice. The arbitration of politics ended with the Treaty of Versailles. But neither was a conclusive settlement, because neither took cognizance of economics.

What Germany has needed, what France has needed, what the world has needed—has been and is today a business settlement.

That is precisely what the economic experts have worked out. They have eschewed political considerations; they have dealt solely with economic considerations. Through the complexities of their findings and their recommendations shine certain simple, plain principles.

One of these is that the German people must pay as heavily in taxes as the creditor nations.

Another is that, if Germany is to pay, she must have her hands free to exploit her economic resources.

A third is that the milliards of German capital that have taken flight to other countries must be induced to return to Germany and bear their part in achieving financial rehabilitation.

The Dawes Committee proposes to erect the new German system of payment on a firm tripod, whose three legs will be: First, taxes adjusted to the utmost capacity to pay with safety; second, the German state railway system; third, debentures based on German industries.

The scheme by which Germany is to draw from these three sources enough revenues to balance her own budget and to pay reparations on an increasing scale until a normal maximum is reached, has apparently been worked out with business-like care.

The German railroads, it is found, are in first-class condition, and the property is unencumbered. Thus it is perfectly practicable to draw from them by means of a capitalization distributed among bonds, preferred and common stock.

Germany's industries in like manner present ample security and opportunity for revenue-raising. Thanks to the depreciation of the mark, they have freed themselves from practically all obligations. The complete depreciation of their securities has amounted to confiscation in their favor as against the holders. Accordingly they are now able to bear a burden of debentures almost as large as the debts from which they escaped.

The reaction of both Germany and France to the proposed settlement will determine its fate. Germany can scarcely refuse her consent, since to do so would mean her sinking into economic ruin beyond hope of rescue.

France must give up her economic stranglehold on the Ruhr, though she may keep her military hold for security's sake. She must let Germany have freedom to work out the plan of reparation payment and budget balancing. This will require some political backing and filling, some maneuvering to satisfy French public opinion. But the supreme fact that must in the end constrain France to acquiescence is that thus and only thus can she hope to receive the payments from Germany.

It is no more than justice to no means remote. European rehabilitation is the indispensable precursor of satisfactory solution of our own economic problems. Our business, realus has devised the way out for Germany, for France, for Europe. It is also our own way out.

All honor to General Dawes and his colleagues for their policy of economic peace!—Minneapolis Journal.

ON PROHIBITION

Unless witnesses are lying before the senate committee investigating the acts of Attorney General Daugherty, responsible government employment in Washington has been helped to bring prohibition to a halt.

At the writing the testimony before the committee had not directly linked Mr. Daugherty with the whisky deals, but it had made a direct contact between the transactions and men known to be his friends. It also is noteworthy that just as in the case of the light film transportation, persons interested in bringing others into the picture had thought they had influence with higher-ups.

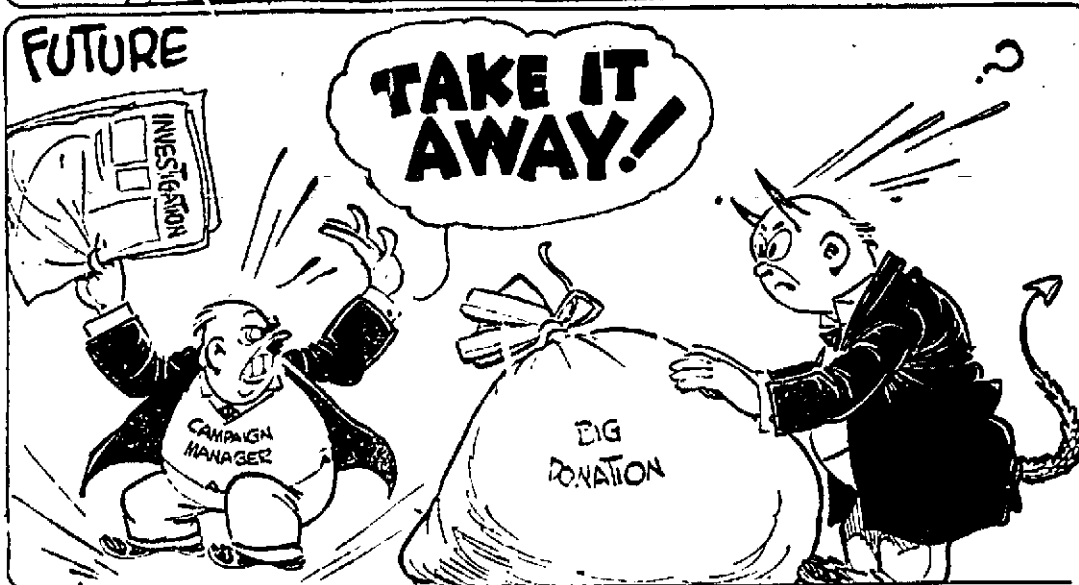

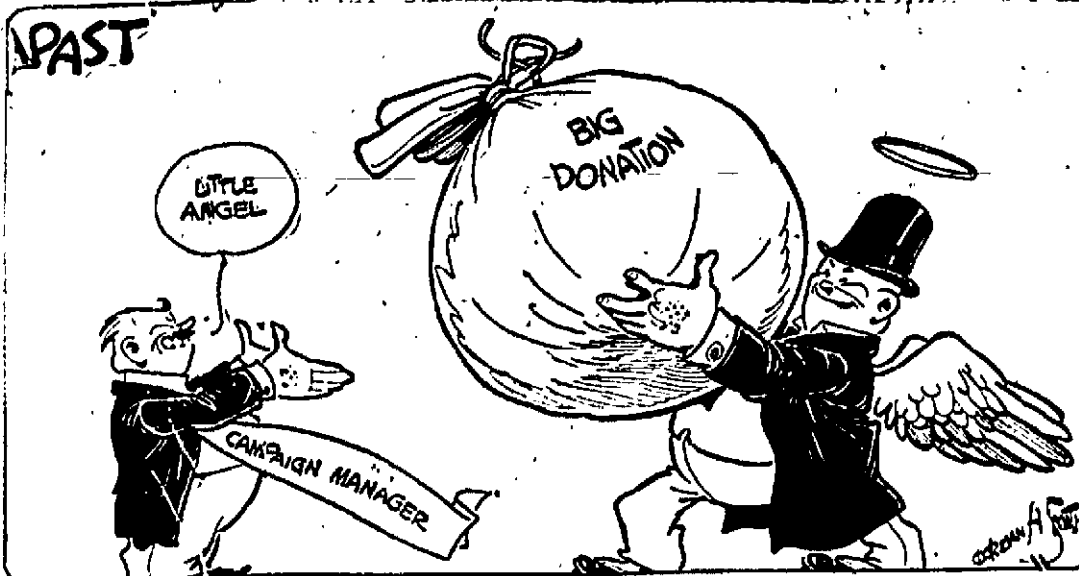

Prohibition has produced a great variety of cross purposes. When some energetic, honest and courageous officials in the government have been bending every effort to stop illegal traffic in liquor, others have been deliberately adding violation of the law. Not only in the present instance is it suggested that employees of the government complied with violators, but enforcement officers at various places have accepted much money from the booze interests. Congress did not know when it enacted the law that enforcement would be so difficult, that the rewards for dishonesty would be great in their possibilities, and that so many persons would deliberately undertake to block enforcement. No wonder prohibition is not prohibiting as it should—Foster County Independent.

TOM SIMS NEWS PAPER
OLD MEN'S FANCY TURNSADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"You'll never, never guess where we are going next," said Mister Muggs, as he started his little automobile.

"Where?" cried both the Twins. "To see Tom Thumb. He lives in Once-Upon-A-Time Land, too, with his father and mother."

Well, the little car went past seven forests and over seven rivers and finally stopped at a gate in front of a farmhouse.

When they knocked at the door, Mrs. Thumb herself opened it. "Oh, dear!" she sobbed. "Isn't it dreadful! You've heard the bad news of course."

"What bad news?" asked Mister Muggs. "No, we didn't hear of any bad news. What's happened?"

"It's Tom!" cried Mrs. Thumb. "He's gone again. Once he was lost down a mouse-hole and once the cow ate him and once the wolf gobbled him up."

"But when he came home the last time we thought he was safe, and now he's been gone since yesterday morning."

"Well, then, if that's the case," said Mister Muggs, "we'll hunt for him. That's what we came for, to help anybody in trouble. For all those stories all say, 'and they lived happily ever after,' you can never be sure. The Fairy Queen sent us."

First they went to see the lion. "Did you eat up Tom Thumb?" asked Mister Muggs.

"As big as one of your eyes," said the lion.

"Ugh! I wouldn't be bothered," said the lion. And he turned over and went to sleep.

Then they went to see the tiger. "Did you eat up Tom Thumb?" asked Nick.

"How fat is he?" asked the tiger. "Not fat at all," said Nick. "When I wouldn't be bothered," said the tiger, giving his tail a whack against the ground to show that he meant it.

Then they went to see the bear. "Did you eat Tom Thumb?" asked Nancy.

"How sweet is he?" asked the bear. "He isn't sweet at all!" said Nancy.

"Oh, get out!" growled the bear. "If I can't have honey I won't eat anything."

"So they all went back to the house."

"What were you doing yesterday?" asked Mister Muggs.

"I made apple-butter," said Mrs. Thumb.

"Where did you put it?" "In big crocks in my cellar."

"Then that's where your son is," declared Mister Muggs.

And when they lifted a lid, sure enough there was Tom Thumb, looking like a Brownie.

He's a red-cheeked little fellow, and he's kinda shy of hair. There's a tiny little round spot, for a nose. Saucer eyes that fairly glisten when you chuck him 'neath the chin; little paddles that will reach up for your face. It's a pleasure just to listen to the gurgle with his grin as his peepers sorta trail you 'round the place. Dimpled knee and shapely shoulder, plumpish neck and manly chest. Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. F.M. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F.M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for castor—now and then just to keep them fit, 15c and 50c.

ONLY ONE HOME-RUN

Bert Blue of Detroit, and Not Babe Ruth, Makes the First Circuit Clout

New York, April 16.—America's greatest outdoor spectacle—the 1924 baseball season—was presented amid typical settings yesterday when nearly a quarter million spectators applauded the efforts of old stars and new.

President Coolidge performed one of the most pleasant duties of the chief executive by "cutting it over the plan" at Washington. Walter Johnson, that veteran of the iron arm, responded with the best hurling performance of the day. Against Philadelphia he pitched his 101st shut-out and increased his string of strike-outs to more than 3,000. The Senators won, 4 to 0.

Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, attended the National League opening at St. Louis where a heavy hitting battle the home team illustrated the famous phrase "Wag in the Ninth," defeating the Cubs, 6 to 5.

Ban Johnson, president of the American League, sat at Boston where the world champions proved their steel by winning the hardest fought contest of the day, 2 to 1.

At the Giants' opening in New York more than 44,000 people—the largest crowd of the day—saw the malignant Brooklyn Robins defeat the National League champions in a close game, 3 to 2.

Crowds Over 25,000
Major and dignitaries of other cities, turned baseball in other towns and hands played while crowds that in most of the cities exceeded 25,000 cheered them.

Walter Johnson's feat was rivalled by George Sisler, the great St. Louis American, manager, who after a year's lay-off with a defective vision, yesterday batted .500. He was largely responsible for his team's 7 to 3 victory over Chicago, and fielded 15 chances perfectly.

Babe Ruth did not hit a home run, but started the Yankee rally in the ninth which brought his team from the rear and led them to victory. Cy Williams, the National League home run king, tuned up with three singles. Harry Heilmann, American League champion batsman, started with an average of .666 and Rogers Hornsby, his National League rival, chalked up .400. Ty Cobb batted .333 and saved his team's game with a sensational catch.

Makes Home Run
Bert Blue, Detroit first baseman, made the only home run of the day, giving his team a 4 to 3 victory over Cleveland. The St. Louis Americans, with seven runs and the Boston Nationals with 16 hits, fought in each department. Another hurling performance of merit was made by Bob Shawkey of the Yankees, who held Boston to two hits in seven innings, until removed for a pinch hitter, Howard Eganke, who opposed him, allowed the world's champion sluggers only five hits, two of which came in the ninth.

The Phillies and Braves played to an 11-inning tie in Philadelphia, the score standing 6 to 6 when the game was called on account of darkness. The Reds defeated the Pirates in Cincinnati before 36,000 people.

Billy Evans Says

That was a queer situation down south the other day when the New York Giants left the field, believing they had beaten the White Sox 10 to 9, only to later learn that the game had ended in a 9 to 9 tie. In a great many of the smaller minor league parks a boy looks after the score board. Usually he has no connection with the press box so he must do his own scoring.

That created all the trouble in the game. That was the fact that it was merely an exhibition game probably explains it.

The surprising feature is that none of the players or umpires noticed the mistake. The fact that it was merely an exhibition game probably explains it.

The game between the Giants and White Sox is not without its parallel. Such a thing happened in a regularly scheduled game in one of the bigger minor leagues several years ago.

The boy operating the score board was the town clown on baseball. However, he misinterpreted a rule that cut off a run which decided the ball game.

Early in the game the home team had a batting rally, putting over a bunch of runs. The inning ended in a double play, a runner passing over the plate while the play was being completed. That was the all important run that was lost.

This was the situation just before the side was retired. Runners on first and third and one out when the batsman hit a long fly to the right fielder. Now for the fireworks.

The runner on third held his base believing the catch would be made. He was also of the opinion that he could easily score whether or not the fielder caught the ball.

The runner on first didn't think

Miller Huggins Says Pitcher Hoyt Is Due To Have Best Year of His Career

By NEA Service

New York, April 16.—Miller Huggins, mite manager of the New York Yankees, says he expects Waite Hoyt to have the greatest year of his career.

"Hoyt has been a fine pitcher for several years; this season I am sure he will be a great one."

"No pitcher in the American League has more stuff or courage."

The fielder would make the catch and run wild.

The fielder caught the ball. The runner on third held his base and crossed the plate while the fielder was doubling up to runner at first.

The runner on third crossed the plate several steps before the final out was made and, of course, was entitled to score, since there was no force third out.

The scoreboard boy decided the run didn't count believing no run could score on a double play. He didn't put it up.

The home team left the field at the close of the ninth believing it had been beaten when as a matter of fact the score was a tie.

CONTROL TELLS STORY OF STAR PITCHER'S FAME

One reason why Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Chicago Cubs continues to be a great pitcher is because he wastes no effort in his work.

Last season in 39 games, the star of the Cub staff gave only 30 bases on balls—less than one a game—a most remarkable record.

At one stage of the race, Alexander went 54 consecutive innings without giving a base on balls.

GOLF AWARDS SMALL

The pro golfers don't exactly make a cleanup even when they win important championships. All Walter Hagen got for winning the north and south title at Pinehurst recently was a nifty looking medal and a check for $300. Mr. Ruth or Mr.

"The robber gangs fight continual."

"The robber gangs fight continual."

"The robber gangs fight continual."

"The robber gangs fight continual."

"The robber gangs fight continual."

"The robber gangs fight continual."

"The robber gangs fight continual."

He has overcome his only fault, carelessness.

"I started Hoyt in the first game of the 1923 series because I regarded him as my best bet. He would have won his first game had he worked carefully."

"I was forced to take him out of that game after he had gotten away to a good lead. I didn't start him again because I feared the psychology of that had started would prove a handicap."

"Hoyt should be the best pitcher in the American League in 1924."

Some praise when you consider only a few years ago in a huff, Hoyt took a punch at the watch-fob manager.

Dempsy wouldn't even be interested in such a scintum.

The Ideal Radio Set for Hikers

Henry Parkhouse, Brooklyn amateur, is the designer and builder of a novel radio set that should prove ideal for the hiker. It is a three-tube receiver, operating on small batteries and is complete in all details. The instruments are fastened to a canvas bag, and each tube has its own receptacle; a pocket-size power source, a loud speaker, and it is said that stations as far away as Chicago have been heard on it. The antenna consists of fine wire sewn between two canvas sheets so that it may be carried under the shirt, or in a pocket.

Strange Animal Being Sought in Heart of Jungle

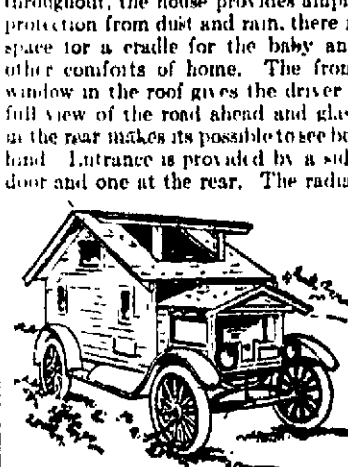

Deep in the depths of East African jungles, the "Nandi bear," depicted by natives as a ferocious species of man-eating hyena with striped tail, is being sought by scientists. The tales of frightened villagers and fragmentary reports from hunters indicate that the animal is taller and much more powerful than the ordinary hyena.

In the last ten years, extensive explorations have resulted in the discovery of many new animals, among which the okapi, a large zebra-like creature, is regarded as the most important. Smaller animals are constantly being found and the old Roman adage, "Out of Africa, always something new," is almost daily proved true. Scientists believe, however, that there are few of the larger species that have escaped identification.

Radio Beacon Guides Aviator on Hundred-Mile Flight

Guided only by signals spoken over a radio beacon, an aviator recently flew from Dayton, Ohio, to a point one hundred miles distant, arriving there without mishap and without losing his course at any point. In his return he heard the letters 'A' and 'T' repeated over and over. As he flew along the correct course, both letters were equally loud, but the moment he got off the course to one side or the other, one letter became noticeably louder than the other and showed him which way to turn.

Cottage Built on Auto Gives Tourists Home Comforts
Fitted upon the chassis of a small touring car, a miniature cottage supplies an Iowa contractor, his wife, and two children with luxurious quarters while on motor tours. Electric lighted throughout, the house provides ample protection from dust and rain, there is space for a cradle for the baby and other comforts of home. The front window in the roof gives the driver a full view of the road ahead and glass in the rear makes it possible to see behind. Entrance is provided by a side door and one at the rear. The radiator fills the screened-in "porch" which has one side on hinges so that the engine can be reached easily. The cottage weighs but little more than the motor body of standard type and proves an effective advertising device.

Auto Death in U. S. Every Thirty-Five Minutes

Every five minutes the clock recorded thirty-five minutes during the last year, a person was killed on the highways of the country, and each minute, approximately three persons were injured, delegates to the convention of the American road builders were told. In twelve months highway accidents claimed a total of 15,000 lives and caused 1,700,000 injuries, according to the figures given. Uniform traffic regulations, established by all states, strict enforcement of these laws, systematic maintenance of roads and safety education in schools were urged to curb the ever mounting number of fatalities. In Wisconsin, a survey of accidents during the past two years was said to have proved that most of them occurred on straight roads, largely due to attempts of drivers to pass one another. Railway grade crossings, however, were declared to be the most dangerous.

Monkey's Bites Test Money

Down to the spread of counterfeit coins in Siam, monkeys are being employed in the banks to test the genuineness of the currency. Installed behind the counters, monkeys test the coins between their teeth. If good no marks are left on the metal and the coins are thrown into a box at the animal's side. Should the coins be bad the metal bears visible marks and is thrown on the floor, later to be swept up and destroyed.
